V Studios

A field of dreams

france•tv

In the sunny South of France, nestled between the sea and the mountains, there lies a place full of magic where storybook tales come to life.

Cinema, TV content, music videos, advertising... In this 16,000m² production hub, there's always space to fit your project!

How it started

In 2018, France Télévisions launched an initiative to create a next-gen production hub. Thanks to the expert collaboration between «La Fabrique» (France TV's in-house fabrication team) and France TV Studio (the production branch), V Studios was born!

Day by day, accessories and furniture from different France Télévisions's locations across the country were collected and moved down to form a massive storage and carpentry workshop where new backlots could be forged.

Over time, our teams gathered their expertise to create a high-end competence pool and propose more and more services until, finally, V Studios was ready to start filming! Immediately following its completion, masterful pieces of French and international filming projects were developed!

After 5 years of crafting a myriad of films, V Studios was selected as one of the winners of the «France 2030, la Grande Fabrique de l'image» call for projects.

In light of this great success, starting in 2025, France Télévisions will continue the development of V Studios by adding new state-of-the-art filming sets, producing even more space for the film industry!

Description

4 stages, various backlots, high-tech resources such as green screens, VFX material, and a 100m² LED wall. All of which will help produce top-notch artistic quality.

But V Studios is much more than that! It is also a highly qualified team, trained for any services, from post-production to backlots modeling and fabrication in our carpentry workshop!

Plus, you will have access to a massive warehouse with more than 15,000 available items, from a wooden egg cup to Louis XVI's throne!

And don't forget what the Occitanie region offers: a picturesque natural landscape, old and modern architecture, and authentic French cuisine!

The perfect place to make your dreams a reality!
